COST OF RAILWAYS.

It is interesting to note the comparitive cost of railways constructed in the United States and Europe. It will be seen from the following table that the cost of railways in this country is very below the cost in the United Kingdom. The table has been prepared by an English exchange and therefore may be relied upon as being correct so far as its own railroads are concerned, and the cost per mile as given in the United States is that taken as granted from Poore's Manual which is authority on the subject;

United Kingdom, average cost per mile,		$212,0 0
Belgium,	" "	161,059
France,	" "	138,000
Germany,	" "	105,000
Russia,	" "	100,000
Scandinavia,	" "	70,000
United States,	" "	55,000

This cost as given in the United States does not include watered stock, and therefore it will be seen that the railways of Great Britain have cost about four times as much as those in this country. The process of watering stock has been carried on inordinately in the United States for many years, but even this does not offset the cost of British, French or German railway construction. The 'Age of Steel," a paper of note as authority upon the question of railway building, says, it is quite likely that the excessive cost of English railway is to be found in corruption and dishonesty quite as flagrant as that which has attended the progress of railway enterprise in this country. We might say that "out of their own months are they condemned"—referring again to the English exchange whose table we have copied. Judging from what this authority says, it is evident the euphoneous item known as "parliamentary expenses" forms a tremendous burden upon railway construction there. It states that between the years 1872 and 1882 £3,924,712 or not far from $20,000,000, were expended in the United Kingdom "in promoting and opposing railway bills in parliament," and that the amount spent over parliamentary battles was 2 per cent. of the total addition to capital expenditure in this ten years." At the same rate, it is said, the total amount spent up to the present time would reach 16,000,000 sterling, or nearly $80,000,000; and the article adds, "it is probable, however, that the actual expenditures has been greater even than this."

So it seems that there are tricks in railway building in the United Kingdom as well as in the United States; and it is said on authority that cannot be doubted, that in other ways, extravagance and looseness of management, English railways have well earned their place among the costly things of this world. An English paper gives quite a number of the "trick in the trade," appertaining to railway management, that go to prove that the American is not above the Britisher in adopting methods that enrich the syndicates that have railway construction and management under their charge.

This amounts to $253,936 and was given to 26,606, of whom 17,657 were members of the Grand Army, and the remainder were either old soldiers not members or those dependent on old soldiers or deceased veterans for support.

John Blum, of Germany, has gone over to England to obtain a patent for the instantaneous generation of steam. It is said that it is of rare occurrence for a patent to be issued in England for a process as distinguished from an invention; such a thing has not happened before, it is said, since the time of James Watt. The Blum discovery, we are further told, must inevitably revolutionize every industry in which steam plays a part, provided it stands the test of experience. It will save 33 per cent in fuel, 90 per cent. in boiler space, and 66 per cent. in the cost of plant. Moreover, by its use a boiler explosion becomes an impossibility. A syndicate of capitalists has been formed to work the German patent rights. Dr. Blum, according to the London Ironmonger, aims for his process that, in addition to its own advantages, it combines all the advantages to be gained from the "flash-ing boiler," while all its dangers and drawbacks have been obviated. Whether this invention will yield all it promises, is a question about which there is some doubt. It looks a good deal like the Keely motor speculation.

A Madison telegram says that United States District Attorney Bushnell has concurred in the opinion of the assistant United States attorney, Mr. Rogers to the effect that the Galbraith Bros. are legally bound to pay government duties on their imported horses so long as they import them for speculation and profit merely, the recent decisions of the acting secretary of the treasury to the contrary notwithstanding. Accordingly Mr. Rogers has served a complaint on Edward P. Viles, of Madison, attorney for Galbraith Bros., demanding in behalf of the government $17,000 as unpaid government duties on 169 horses imported by them during the year preceding July 2, 1887.

To THE EDITOR.—Your leading article in the Gazette of the 16th, headed "Why meat stays dear." Explains the wide margin between the price realized by the producer and that paid by eastern purchasers. Please now explain why the purchaser in Janesville has to pay as much for meat as he did when our butchers paid for the stock nearly or quite one hundred per cent. more than they now pay?

A SMALL CONSUMER.

That is the conundrum which many thousands of people would like to have answered; and it is one of the questions of the hour. Steak is as high now as when beef or pork was twice the price it is now, and why this is so seems to have but one explanation. There is a corner on retail beef, or rather a sort of a "pooling of the issues," among the butchers. Now the question is, how can the consumers find relief.

If this slapping of the civil service in the face of the administration keeps on much longer, there will have to be a fresh air fund raised for the Mugwumps.

A dispatch from Eau Claire says that the quarterly report of Asst.-Adjt.-Gen. George A. Barry, prepared to be forwarded to the adjutant-general, gives Grand Army statistics of the department of Wisconsin for the quarter ending July 1, as follows: The number of members in good standing July 1 was 10,662; th gain during the quarter having been 667 the loss by death 19; the loss from all causes combined 240, and the net gain 297. The amount expended for charity was $750 96. Relief was given to 65 persons belonging to the families of members and to 30 persons in no way connected with the order.

Speaking of the Glenn bill, now before the Georgia legislature, the Springfield Republican says: "The first fruit of the proposed Glenn law against coeducation of the races in Georgia would be the prosecution of white teachers in Atlanta university for giving instruction to their own children. A white man in the chain gang as a punishment for instructing his children would be a fine spectacle for this age of the world." Will the Springfield Republican please note, and the attention of democratic papers is also called to the fact, that this Glenn bill is a disgrace to the state, is among the first fruits of the "New South."

Speaking of Jeff Davis's letter against prohibition, Bishop Galloway, of Mississippi, says: "I did hope that his stormy life would have a peaceful close: that his sun would go down without a fleck of cloud in the sky; but that unfortunate utterance will obscure the radiance of his eventide and leave a shadow upon his memory. How sad that the last words of a soldier, sage and christian should become the shibboleth of the saloons."

When last hear from the Texas majority against prohibition was something like 80,000. When the prohibitionists have another election of the kind, they will please remember that if they do more work for prohibition, and use less effort to beat the republican party, they will have better results? But St. John doesn't want anybetter results as long as he can get $50 a night.

What a Boston, Boston is. It not only thinks Sullivan the greatest man living, but it is said that 8,000 Boston servant girls carry books or music rolls on the streets when they go out, thinking thus to deceive the people as to their occupation.

The few democratic officials who are left in Washington, find the weather "hot beyond endurance." Let them get along the best they can until next year, say about November, and they will see a day which will be cold enough to make the whole democratic party chilly.

Mr. Higgins seems to be happy in his fat office and in possesion of the fact that the mugwumps do not hold the fort under the administration. The laugh is on his side.

Governor Adams, of Colorado, was for some years a Wisconsin boy, and is now only 35 years old.

A Healthy Stomach

Is a blessing for which thousands of our dyspeptic countrymen and women sigh in vain, and to obtain which swallow much medicine unavailingly. For no ailment probably, are there so many alleged remedies as for dyspepsia. The man of humbug is constantly glutted with the dollars and dimes of those who resort to one nostrum after another in the vain hope of obtaining relief, at least, from the vexatious and obstinate malady. Experience indicates Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a means of eradicating dyspepsia, in which a firm reliance can be placed. No remedy has in three decades and over established such a reputation, none has received such unqualified professional sanction. It is an admirable invigorant, because it enriches the blood, and not only this, but it thoroughly regulates the bowels, kidney and bladder. The nervous symptoms are usually relieved by the medicine.

Advice to Mothers.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. 25c a bottle. augtda&ty

A CRASH AT THE CAPITAL

Washington City the Scene of a Strange Railway Accident.

TWENTY-TWO PERSONS INJURED.

The Brakes Become Powerless and the Train, Leaving the Track, Demolishes a Brick Building—The Engineer Loses His Life.

ANOTHER WRECK.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The few residents in the neighborhood of the Baltimore & Ohio "Y" who were up and on the street at 6:30 o'clock yesterday morning witnessed a singular and startling scene. It was no less a spectacle than that of a train of cars leaping from the track and rushing with the speed of lightning and the crash of a thunderbolt through a brick house. In an instant the train and the house were in a heap of ruins and the track for some distance was littered with debris. The train to which the accident occurred was No. 4, the St. Louis, Chicago, & Cincinnati express and coming from the west. About 6:30 it came thundering into the city over the Metropolitan branch, and at the curve, nearly a mile away from the "Y," began whistling "down brakes." For some reason the brakes were not put down. The air-brakes, it was stated, did not work, and the engineer began blowing his distress whistle for the brakemen to put on the regular brakes. Either the brakemen did not heed the signal or it was not given in time to be of use, for the train, flying at a frightful rate, came thundering on toward the sharp curve at the "Y." On the south side of the "Y," in the little corner made by the intersection of the tracks was located a railroad signal tower, a brick structure three stories high, where railroad men are employed to regulate the signals and the switches at the "Y." When the train turned the sharp curve of the "Y," with fearful headway, the cars behind the engine flew from the track and smashed into the signal-tower, and, in an instant, there was a wreck, which, for confusion, has seldom been equaled in railroad annals. The engine was dragged from the track, and, plowing through the dirt and mud a distance of 150 feet, rolled completely over. Near the engine lay Hamilton Brosius, the engineer, crushed and dying, and his foreman with several bones broken. Behind the engine was a scene of panic and confusion. One car was crushed and nearly buried under the bricks and timbers of the demolished building. Two sleeping coaches and one passenger coach remained on the track. The mail car, the express car, and the baggage car were rolled over and their sides were crushed. The roof of one car protuded from the ruins of the building. Firemen, policemen, railroad men, and the citizens went to work with coats off to clear out the debris. Many injured passengers were removed and taken to neighboring houses or drug stores or to hospitals. In this way eighteen or twenty people were got out of the wreck, some of them only slightly injured, others with bones broken and bodies badly bruised and cut. The following is believed to be a full list of the injured. They were sent to the Providence Hospital, with the exception of Healey and Baxter:

Charles Koch, Cincinnati, badly injured in the back; Mrs. Charles Koch, Cincinnati, slightly shocked; Charles Morrison, Cincinnati, injured in the back; Frank Denauer, St. Louis, shoulder dislocated; J. B. Smith, fireman, Cincinnati, both legs broken; Wilhelm Buck, Cincinnati, head cut badly; Ed Leichemoyer, Cincinnati, slightly injured; Joseph Healey, Washington, seriously injured; Will Baxter, telegraph operator, Washington, painfully injured about the head; Mr. and Mrs. William Benson, Winchester, Ind., badly bruised; Mrs. Augusta Barnes, Germany, head badly cut; Hamilton Brosius, engineer, dying; Albert Thomas, of Washington, employed in the express car, collar-bone and left shoulder injured, severe scalp wounds and left eye probably destroyed; F. J. Fuchs, of Cincinnati, badly bruised; Augusta Beard and child, of Cincinnati, bruised; Francis J. Tuck, of Cincinnati, cut in the right knee and badly bruised; Mrs. Augusta Bond, Cincinnati, severe scalp wound and bruises; Lizzie Albert and Charlie Koch, Cincinnati, children, all badly scratched.

Kill at Two Men in Self-Defense.

CONNELSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 18.—Charles Maloney, an employe of the Wheeler coke works, was assaulted by Ed Diel and Charles Baker, two colored men, who threatened to kill him. Maloney drew a revolver and shot Diel through the heart, killing him almost instantly. Baker was shot in the groin, it is thought fatally. Maloney fled to avoid being lynched by colored friends of the victims, but he was later captured by the officers and is now in the Uniontown jail.

Lives Crushed Out.

ISHPEMING, Mich., Aug. 18.—The third horrible mining accident within ten days took place at the Superior mine yesterday. A gang of timbermen were at work under ground testing the roof with hammers. They thought it safe, but it suddenly fell upon them, killing Magnus Anderson, a single man, aged twenty-eight years, and Andrew Sundblad, a married man of thirty-five years. John Maroney was badly hurt, but will recover.

The annual address of General Payne shows the order to have a membership of 32,804 and to be rapidly growing.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 18.—Eleven workmen were crossing the river in a boat last evening, coming from work. The skiff was capsized by the waves from a steamer, and all were thrown into the water. Eight of them swam ashore, but Ed Pervis, Tom Riley and Charles Eschenbrenner were drowned. Their bodies were not found.

SENATOR FRYE'S TOUR ABROAD.

What the Maine Statesman Saw on the Continent—His Observation of the Laboring Classes.

LEWISTON, Me., Aug. 18.—Senator Frye and Mrs. Frye, who arrived here on Friday from their trip to Europe, have gone to their cottage on Squirrel Island. Senator Frye said:

SENATOR FRYE.

"We have been absent about five months, and have had a very enjoyable trip. We have taken a tour of the continent and Great Britain, and, although we have seen many places, we have seen no place like home—no place in all respects equal to America. You will find in the Old World much that is admirable, but what impressed me most painfully was the poverty of the masses of the people. Why, the people in Europe live on the poorest food and mighty little of it. I found that laborers in Glasgow work for two shillings six pence a day—sixty-two cents. I was charmed with Edinburgh, but when I saw the women drunk, lighting in her beautiful streets, the modern Athens lost her charms. I can not convey to you the picture of the degradation and want throughout Great Britain caused by drink.

"Speaking of wages, I found girls in factories in Venice working with great skill for from five to twelve cents a day, the most experienced getting twelve cents a day, out of which they have to live. But how they live is a wonder. Their chief diet is maccaroni. Farm hands all over Europe, women, earn twenty cents a day. Women do most of the field work. I saw no improved machinery on the farms of the continent. I have seen twenty women in one field at work; not a man in sight. The plain people have no meat to eat but once a week on the continent. The condition of American wage-earners is incomparably better than that of working people in Europe. It is the difference between comfort and competence and discomfort and insufficient food and clothing."

SOCIALISTS RULED OUT.

The New York Labor State Convention Favors Henry George for Governor.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Delegations to the United Labor State convention arrived during Tuesday night and yesterday morning. The Executive Committee made up the list of members of the convention, recognizing in all cases regularly chosen United Labor delegates. The Executive Committee holds that members of any other political party are ineligible to membership in the United Labor convention.

John McMackin seems to have made a ruling that will control the United Labor convention, that none but members of that party without other affiliations shall be recognized, and that the Union Labor party be not recognized or affiliated with. This rule excludes distinctive Socialist delegations, as well as the Union Labor party conferees.

Jeremiah Murphy, chairman of the Executive Committee, called the convention to order. About 500 persons, half spectators, were present. Then followed the calling of the roll of delegates. The names of McGlynn, George and several others were applauded. Two colored delegates are on the list. Louis F. Post was made temporary chairman. The result was interpreted as a George victory. Mr. Post, on taking the chair, made an address outlining the policy of the United Labor party and predicting its early success in the State and Nation. Secretaries were chosen, as were also committees on credentials, permanent organization and resolutions. No further business was transacted during the day, the convention adjourning until nine o'clock this morning.

AFTER MANY YEARS.

A Murderer Condemned to Death Twenty-Seven Years Ago Captured and Brought Back.

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 18.—Jake Pettijohn, who was sentenced to death twenty-seven years ago in Forsythe County, this State, and escaped by flight, has just been arrested in Indian Territory, and will be brought back for execution. In 1858 Clayborn Vaughn was killed in Forsyth County without quarrel or cause. Five men were implicated in the killing. Their names were as follows: Jake Pettijohn, L. Q. C. McGinnis, Isaac Freeland, William Brannan and McGinnis. They were all indicted and tried for the murder of Vaughn. The trial came off in 1860. Pettijohn, Freeland and L. Q. C. McGinnis were convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged. The other two were sent to the penitentiary. Freeland was hanged in 1860; McGinnis broke jail, was recaptured and hanged in 1861. Pettijohn broke jail when McGinnis did, and has been at large ever since. The sheriff of Forsythe has gone after Pettijohn.

FOR BLAINE.

The Pennsylvania Republicans Indorse the Maine Statesman for the Presidency—The Ticket.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 18.—The Pennsylvania Republicans held a convention here yesterday. William B. Hart was nominated for State Treasurer and H. W. Williams for Supreme Judge. The platform favors the submission of a prohibitory amendment to the voters of the State; indorses the protective tariff; demands restrictions upon immigration; expresses abhorrence of anarchistic doctrines; urges the granting of subsidies to American shipping and of bounties upon exports; recommends an enlargement of the pension-rolls; denounces the Administration of President Cleveland; condemns the white people of the South for discriminating against the negroes in the matter of traveling facilities; tenders sympathy to Gladstone and Parnell for their brave struggle, etc., etc., and indorses Blaine for President in 1888.

Great Railway Strike in Mexico.

EL PASO, Tex., Aug. 18.—The third division of engineers on the Mexican Central railroad went out Tuesday. The three divisions now out represent 850 miles of track. No violence has been offered north, and the only division not out is composed of men who are partly of brotherhood men and some who are not. Passenger trains are running on the lower two divisions. The officials of the road maintain that the strike was prompted by a professional agitator from the United States, and that no real grievances exist.

Peorians Demand a Thorough Investigation of the Late Horror.

NO VERDICT YET REACHED BY THE JURY.

A Disposition to Be Easy with the Road's Managers—Progress of the Inquiries by the Coroner and the State Railway Commission.

SEARCHING FOR THE CAUSE.

PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 18.—A public meeting held in the court-house square last evening passed resolutions of sympathy with the Chatsworth sufferers, and demanded that a fair and impartial investigation be made on behalf of the people. A committee was also empowered to promote some charitable benefit scheme for the relief of those who need it.

CHATSWORTH, Ill., Aug. 18.—The coroner's jury met yesterday morning, and decided to summon more witnesses. Station Agent Mason, at Piper City, and Roadmaster Ennis will be examined. Some members of the jury want to see if any blame can be attached to Mr. Mason, whose attention was called to the fire on the track early in the night of Wednesday, August 10. It also wants to inquire about Mr. Ennis' order before censuring Coughlin.

The work of the jury so far has been unsatisfactory. Not a word of testimony has been introduced respecting the danger of running double-header trains. Nothing has been said about the kind of passenger cars used, whether rotten traps or stoutly-built coaches. A number of conditions that might have contributed to the accident have not been investigated. With the evidence before it and the manner of its presentation it is strange that the jury should disagree. There is an apparent desire to let the company off easily, and saddle the whole responsibility upon the shoulders of Coughlin. Coroner Long said last night that if no verdict were reached this morning he would adjourn the jury until next week.

CHATSWORTH, Ill., Aug. 18.—Before the coroner's jury yesterday Station Agent Mason, of Piper City, denied that he saw the light early in the evening or had his attention called to it, as was testified on Tuesday by two witnesses. He saw a headlight later, after eleven o'clock. He was positive it was the headlight of the front engine of the excursion train, for it remained on the track from the time he first saw it until the engine came up. He differed with the other witnesses in the matter of time only. He swore that he received the messages of Roadmaster Ennis and Superintendent Armstrong directing the section men to see that the track was all right in their sections and the station men to see that the switches were set to the main track and locked. He had never before heard of such an order as that issued by Ennis to the section men. Neither had he ever known so heavy a train as the excursion train to run over the road. He had received messages addressed to the section foremen directing them to be careful about fires during the dry weather.

Chris Ennis, roadmaster for the eastern section of the Toledo, Peoria & Western from Peoria to the Indiana State line, testified to receiving Superintendent Armstrong's message directing him to have his men go over their entire sections the last thing before quitting time and see that the bridges were in no danger of fire. He gave his message to the station agent at Watseka and told him to send it to the section foremen. The section foremen were instructed to go over their sections every day, keep the tracks in repair, and see that the road was safe for the passage of trains. His orders respecting the burning of grass and weeds were never to leave the fire until it was safe. He thought it was safe to burn grass Wednesday, August 10, and he saw no danger in setting the fire as late as five o'clock in the afternoon. He had always considered Coughlin a man of good judgment. He had not investigated Coughlin's action on Wednesday, August 10, and did not know whether he had obeyed orders. He had seen all the foremen on his division since the accident except Coughlin. He admitted that it was his duty to see that his men obeyed orders, and had investigated every section except that in which the accident occurred.

The company's list of the dead was received yesterday. It contains seventy-seven names. Persons who have kept careful death-rolls say the list omits three names. Mrs. Neal, who was removed to Mossville yesterday with a broken leg and arm, had a nineteen-months-old babe killed. It is not on the list. N. A. Moore, of Jacksonville, and A. Martin, of Bloomington, were killed, it is said, but they are not so reported by the company. The body of Mrs. Ira J. Hicks, of West Hallock, Ill., has not been found, but the remains of an unknown woman in a vault at Peoria have not been claimed. The company's officers think that Mrs. Hicks' body was taken by some persons to whom the unclaimed remains properly belonged. With these corrections the list figures up eighty deaths.

PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 18.—The State Railroad commission yesterday morning resumed its inquiry into the Chatsworth disaster. Charles B. Plantz, the train-dispatcher, testified that the average time of the ill-fated train was thirty miles an hour, no faster than usual. Conductor J. W. Stillwell confirmed the train-dispatcher's account and said the train was run on schedule time as near as could be and had the right of way. The cars were in good condition. Witness fought the fire at the wreck. Dr. Harrison Steele testified that he was notified of the accident at two a. m. on Thursday; responded at once; had no idea of the magnitude of the wreck, so called no other doctor; thought there would be plenty of help. Five doctors joined the wrecking train at Fairbury, and there were about fifteen doctors at the wreck; was there forty-eight hours, and gave personal attention to all wounded; had trouble on account of crowd; thought no one died of neglect. S. A. Kinzey, mayor of Peria, testified to the care of the dead and wounded and the relief organization here. He said the railroad company responded to every demand made in the public interests. James Bennett, a Peoria excursionist, saw what looked like pilfering from the dead; saw five or six men crawling through the ruins examining every thing; saw them take up watches and money. A number of other witnesses, excursionists and train men testified regarding the circumstances of the disaster.

A $10,000,000 Transaction.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—It is reported that a syndicate of capitalists has secured control of the mines in the Vermillion iron range in Minnesota. The price paid by the purchasers is said to be $10,000,000. H. H. Porter, J. C. Morse and Marshall Field, of Chicago; D. D. Mills, of New York; John D. Rockefeller, of Cleveland; the Standard Oil Company; and others of the same standing financially comprise the syndicate.

Cheap Fare to the Encampment.

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 18.—The Rock Island road has made a one-cent rate for the benefit of soldiers desiring to attend the Grand Army encampment at St. Louis next month.

The Verdict Unanimous.

W. D. Snit, Druggist, Bippus, Ind testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of rheumatism of 10 years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Bellville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousand of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the Liver, Kidneys or Blood. Only a half dollar a bottle at Frank Sherer & Co's.

HEAVY RAINS.

Illinois Farmers Cheered by Copious Showers.

CARTHAGE, Ill., Aug. 18.—A heavy rain fell in this county Tuesday night, doing much good to meadows, pastures and growing corn.

DANVILLE, Ill., Aug. 18.—Another soaking rain fell for nine hours yesterday forenoon, doing a great amount of good to all kinds of vegetation, the corn and pastures in particular. A great deal better feeling prevails among farmers and stockmen.

TOLONO, Ill., Aug. 18.—A glorious rain fell here during the entire forenoon yesterday. The Okaw and Embarras rivers had both been as dry as a powder horn for a month, but now contain running water. Many farmers have been cutting green corn to feed their stock, but pastures will soon afford sufficient feed if we have occasional showers from this on. Corn will make about half a crop in spite of the long drought.

PRONOUNCED FALSE.

Newfoundland's Premier Declares the Statements of Destitution in His Dominion Are Untrue.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Aug. 18.—The Colonist contains the following from Sir Robert Thorburn, Premier:

"Statements published abroad regarding Newfoundland are untruthful and malicious. There is neither bankruptcy nor universal destitution. The bank and western fisheries are successful. The Labrador and northern fisheries have hitherto been poor, but were improving at the latest advice. The general outlook here is much better than it was last season at the corresponding period."

Treasury Notes.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The offers for the sale of 4½ per cent. bonds to the Government received at the Treasury Department yesterday amount to $8,256,750. The rates ranged from 109 to 110. The majority were offered at the latter figure. Secretary Fairchild has accepted the offer of Harvey Fisk & Sons to sell $1,000,000 coupon and $1,500,000 registered 4½ per cents, at 109.44. All the other bids were rejected. It is stated at the Treasury Department that the Government has made a saving of $242,125 in interest in buying the $2,500,000 of bonds to-day.

G. Evans, of the Confederate army, for conspicuous gallantry at Loesburg, Va., in 1861. This is the only testimonial presented by the State to a soldier in the late war. It will cost $500.

The Youngs Not Guilty.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 18.—The jury in the case of Allie and Z. T. Young at Morehead, charged with a conspiracy to kill Howard M. Logan, yesterday returned a verdict of not guilty. The proceeding seems to have been a farce throughout. The defendants were members of the Tolliver gang.

TREACHEROUS UTES.

They Are Furnished an Escort of Whites Whom They Attack.

SEVERAL OF THE PARTY WOUNDED.

The Government Earnestly Beseeched to Send Troops to Assist in Quelling the Outbreak—Action Taken at Washington.

THE INDIAN TROUBLES.

DENVER, Col., Aug. 18.—The latest news from the seat of the Ute outbreak is that Sheriff Kendall came into Meeker Tuesday night bringing with him four of Colorow's men for the purpose of holding a pow-wow. The Indians asked for fifteen days in which to reach their reservation in Utah, and this being granted, they asked an escort through the settlement. When outside the town the Indians turned upon the escort with knives and severely wounded them. The whites were also fired upon by a party of Utes in ambush, but neither one was hit.

Sheriff Kendall has telegraphed Governor Adams that no time should be lost in pushing troops to the front, as he anticipates an attack upon Meeker and all the unprotected settlements and ranches as soon as Colorow's three bands are united. United States Marshal Hill has telegraphed General Crook that the assistance of United States troops was urgently needed. The militia which left Denver, Colorado Springs and Leadville Tuesday night for Glenwood Springs have been delayed, and will not reach there until this evening.

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Col., Aug. 18.—The White river Ute Indians are said to have sent runners to the Uncompahgre camp, the Blackfeet, the Sioux, the Crow and other tribes in Colorado, Wyoming, Montana and Idaho for aid. Colorow has determined, it is said, to have the other tribes brought into the present difficulty, and while the outbreak has been local so far he wants to make it a National one.

One company of State militia has reported here and were supplemented by an organized band of volunteers headed by Under Sheriff Clements and Jack Ward, a settler familiar with Indian tactics and the country. The other State troops are on their way. If the State troops once get in the field they will, from present indication, be able to quell the outbreak and compel the hostiles to go back to the reservations or kill them.

Late advices show that the Indians are concentrating and at least 300 of them are in the White river country ready for battle, which they will be able to maintain advantageously, being in a country with which they are thoroughly familiar and which will make their position impregnable. No very serious casualties have been reported yet, but the unprotected ranches are at the mercy of the hostiles, and to prevent it troops must begin to work.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—A telegram was received at the War Department yesterday morning from General Terry stating that the Governor of Colorado had requested General Crook to assist the civil authorities in serving a process upon the Ute bucks who had been indicted by a grand jury. General Terry asked for instructions for the guidance of himself and General Crook in the matter. A telegram was sent in reply directing him to hold troops in readiness to move at a moment's notice, in case of necessity. The War Department has received no official information of the reported engagement between Colorow's band and the sheriff's posse, and the military authorities do not feel authorized to order troops to assist the civil authorities in their efforts to arrest the Indians. In the event of the defeat of the posse and Colorow's taking to the war path, General Crook, who is near at hand, has full authority to take any needful action to protect the people.

HOSTILITIES THREATENED.

Great Excitement in Manitoba Over the Construction of the Border Railway.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 18.—The railway war in Manitoba is approaching a critical stage. The Canadian Pacific is constructing a spur line across the proposed route of the Red River Valley road, with a view to obstructing the latter, and a collision between their respective forces is imminent. The Pacific management threaten a resort to injunction proceedings, but the provincial authorities have been warned not to serve the papers under penalty of dismissal. A public meeting will be held at Winnipeg Saturday night, when resolutions will be proposed asking the interposition of the United States to defeat the schemes of the Canadian Pacific and the Dominion Government. Premier Norquay declared at St. Paul yesterday that nothing could prevent the completion of the Red River Valley road.

Pestered by a Crank.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The Graphic of Tuesday contained the following announcement: "The engagement is announced of Miss Nellie Gould, eldest daughter of the New York millionaire, to Mr. J. M. Traber, a bright young railroad employe of King's Creek, W. Va. It is said the nuptials will be solemnized early next year." Mr. Gould publishes a card in yesterday's Graphic, emphatically denying the report, and in which he says Traber is undoubtedly a half-crazy crank who has been writing letters for the past year or two to his daughter, though a total stranger.

A Captured Forger Pleads Guilty.

MONTREAL, Can., Aug. 18.—Page, the check-raiser, was brought before the magistrate yesterday morning and pleaded guilty. It appears that he played the same game upon the Bank of Montreal, raising a check for $70 to $70,000. He took the ferry, crossed to Longueuil, buried the $32,000 ($25,000 of which belonged to the Jacques Cartier Bank) in a pile of lumber, and hired a hackman to drive him across the line, paying him $200 for so doing. When arrested he was within three miles of the frontier. All the money has been recovered.

Killed by a Falling Bridge.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Aug. 18.—Yesterday afternoon a bridge in course of construction on the Ohio Valley railroad, five miles south of Henderson, Ky., fell, instantly killing William Carroll, a sub-contractor, fatally injuring Frank Salone and Joseph Reilly and seriously injuring William L. Gordon, Jr., of Madisonville, Ky. The bridge was thirty-five feet high and the men were working on it when it fell.

Died of His Wounds.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 18.—Sheriff Charles Lynch, of Alpena, died yesterday morning at the Detroit Sanitarium from a shot-wound in the leg inflicted by the notorious "Blinkey" Morgan. Sheriff Lynch planned and carried out the scheme to capture "Blinkey" Morgan and others alleged to be the murderers of Detective Bulligan, of Cleveland. His murderer is now in jail at Ravenna, O.

A New State Printer.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 18.—Governor Oglesby Tuesday appointed J. R. Mosher, editor of the Decatur Republican printer expert for Illinois, in place of John C. Hughes, whose resignation was asked for.

Give Them a Chance.

That is to say your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Bosche's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

WITHOUT ME.

Lines by a Convict in Prison.

How does the active world go on
Without me?
Its laugh of joy, its sigh, its groan,
The sun, the stars, the rolling moon,
The brooks, the rivers, oceans moan
Without me.

Say, is the busy world the same
Without me!
Do men seek fortune still, and fame,
Beam with good will, or blush with shame,
Or is existence but a name,
Without me?

And how along the paved street
Without me?
Do friends once daily want to meet,
And in the bonds of friendship greet
Each other, smile in union sweet,
Without me?

Within the realms of "home, sweet home,"
Without me?
Listening for steps that never come,
Of a weary wanderer's endless roam,
And is it silence, sadness, gloom,
Without me?

Is there o'er all a deathlike calm
Without me?
Do "hearts that once beat high and warm'
With love, now feel that greatest charm
Broken, and elsewhere seek a balm
Without me!

O God forbid! O world go on!
Without me.
Ye moon and stars, unfading sun,
All nature's endless courses run,
Our friendship's webs be deftly spun
Without me.

And in that circle, broken still
Without me,
Bind up those hearts by Thy sweet will,
And in their lives Thy peace instill,
Protect them, Lord, from every ill,
Without me.

Will there hereafter come a day
Without me?
When time ends and worlds pass away,
When Christ o'er all resumes His sway,
Let there be no Heaven, I pray,
Without me.

TALE OF A GLOVE.

Unfailing Symptoms of a Severe Case of Love-Sickness.

It was an odor of roses about my nephew that led to the discovery of the glove. Up to his nineteenth birthday, which arrived a month ago, he had gone through life contemptuous of button-holes; and I was a little taken aback about that time when I ran against him at a corner with a Marshal Niel at his breast. He whipped it hurriedly into his pocket, and, being a kindly old gentleman, I pretended not to notice. But my faith in him was profoundly shaken. This was the boy who had refused point-blank to carry a bouquet down the street at a bribe of half a guinea. Soon I learned that he was conveying tasteful little button-holes into the house up his coat sleeve; and he blushed when he was asked about a tumbler in his bed-room. Then his mother found a six-button glove, size five and a half, in his pocket, which none of us could identify. For some days he had only had one glove himself, which he carried spread out in his hand to look like two. We could not think that this was its long-lost companion.

Pending investigations the glove was replaced in Albert's pocket in the nice little piece of tissue-paper which protected it. Then we watched Albert. Hitherto he had a habit of leaving the room when the conversation took a feminine turn, but now a change came over him. He sat on when his mother talked with his aunt over the relative merits of the waterfall back and the Norfolk blouse, and it was observed that though he pretended to be reading his book he was really drinking in the conversation. On one occasion he came out of his shell in a remarkable manner. The two ladies were asking each other what was the other name for the waterfall back, and Albert, carried away by his interest in the discussion, murmured "Redingote." His mother and his aunt looked at him in amazement, which made Albert turn both white and red. Not long afterward it leaked out that he knew what "sailor collars" were, and liked pale-pink ones.

Albert even began to take an interest in his sisters dresses. His sisters are much younger than himself, and there is a story in the family that about the time he was saving up for some coveted little treasurer he would not let them kiss him under six pence each. It was statistical information about his sisters that Albert now asked for in a casual sort of way that did not deceive his relatives. Once he was discovered trying to ascertain for himself how much Gertrude, who is fourteen, measures round the waist. Not being accustomed to these attentions, Gertrude liked them at first; but it was soon borne in upon her—though she was only fourteen—that her brother was experimenting on her for private reasons of his own. Albert was also curious to know what size in boots Gertrude required, and smiled to himself when told. Gertrude, who has known since she was four that she has large feet, did not like this. It must, I think, have been a week after the discovery of the glove in Albert's pocket that he asked his mother, with an artificial yawn, whether five and a half was not a small size in gloves for a lady. Then his mother asked me to go delicately to work and find out what was Albert's condition, and who she was.

I thought I would leave it to Albert to tell me who she was, but I experimented on him to discover his condition. Nothing, I feel, could have been more delicate than the way I set about it. The glove became, so to speak, the means of communication between me and Albert. First, I removed it from his pocket one day when Albert lay dreaming on the couch. I took the tissue paper off and then gently returned the naked glove to its slumbering owner. That evening Albert asked me for the key of the book-case. This is because I have literary leanings and mediate writing a great book when I settle down and have time. Albert, however, so seldom asks for the key to the book-case—indeed, it is rarely to be found when wanted—that I invited his confidence as to what book he required. To my surprise he said "the large Shakespeare." This large Shakespeare is a sore subject with me. It is in so many great volumes that the shelf it rests on frequently gives way. It is also gorgeously illustrated. Albert took away one of the volumes, and I sat pondering what he could want it for. Doubtless Albert's sudden devotion to Shakespeare had something to do with the glove, but where the connection came in was not evident. By and by Albert brought the volume back. When he had gone I looked through it, but could discover nothing. Next morning Albert's mother puzzled me by remarking that she thought that I had taken the tissue paper off the glove. On being asked for an explanation, she said that she had looked to see, and that the glove was still in its wrapper. At this I went straight to the book-case and again took down that volume of Shakspeare. It was as I suspected: Albert had torn out the tissue paper protecting one of the illustrations—the play scene in "Hamlet."

The next experiment I tried was also a simple one. He carried the glove in an inside pocket, over the spot where Albert thought his heart was. Taking advantage of a favorable moment, I got at the coat and changed the glove to another pocket. The next time I had an opportunity of feeling for it, it was back in the old place again. This happened several times: Albert, who is a simple youth for all his cunning, evidently thinking that he had put the glove into the wrong pocket. Then I hazarded a bolder step. Again taking possession of the glove, I dropped it in a corner of the drawing-room.

That evening Albert came back from the office in a perturbed state of mind. I watched him on his knees in the hall looking for something, and when he saw me he pretended to be unlacing his shoes. He wandered from room to room, and was subsequently heard flinging his things about in his bedroom. He said not a word about his loss, however, to any one. Next morning I was surprised to see him bright and cheerful. I went into the drawing-room, and, behold, the glove was gone. From the way in which the unsuspecting Albert was incessantly putting his hand into that inside pocket, I saw that there was once more a five-and-a-half glove in it. I had feared that Albert would treasure it somewhere else now, but no, he evidently thought that he had dropped it in the drawing-room accidentally perhaps after passionately gazing on it in secret.

But the awakening came when I concealed the little glove in a vase on the smoking-room mantelpiece. Albert ran it to earth in a day and a half without saying a word on the subject to anybody, unless possibly the housemaid. When next I felt for it in his pocket it was not there. From that time Albert and I were playing at hide-and-seek. When I was not looking for the glove he was. I found it inside the case of his cricket-bat and dropped it behind the piano. Albert searched it out, and soon afterward I got it under a corner of the carpet in his bedroom. Then I hid it among some music, knowing that Albert would look there last. All this time I did not know if he suspected who it was that was playing with him. I do not know now, for we have never opened our minds on the subject.

Albert did not find the glove among the music. When two days had passed I put it in an easier place, for Albert was bearing his disappointment bravely. Still he did not find it. Next I flung it on the floor of his bedroom, and Albert did not seem to see it. I laid it on his mantlepiece and he let it remain there. At last it struck me to look in Albert's pocket again. There was another glove in it; size six and a quarter, eight buttons.

Then I went to Albert's mother and told her he was cured.—St. James' Gazette.

STANFORD'S ANSWER.

He Will Not Reply to the Pacific Commissioners' Inquiries Unless Compelled to by the Court—His Reasons.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—Senator Stanford's answer to the rule issued upon him by the United States Court to appear and show cause why he should not be compelled to answer certain questions propounded him by the Pacific Railway Commission was filed yesterday. Senator Stanford pleads forgetfulness of details, the impropriety of making public the private business of the Central Pacific Company, and the hardships which would be involved in the exposure of its secrets to competing companies as among the reasons why he should not be compelled to answer the questions. He avers that he has never corrupted nor attempted to corrupt any member of the Legislature or any member of Congress or any public official, and has never authorized any one else to do so. Under the circumstances he felt compelled to decline to answer the questions propounded, unless the court should otherwise rule.

Arguments were commenced in the case yesterday in the United States Circuit Court before Supreme Justice Field and Judges Sawyer, Hoffman and Sabin. United States Attorney Carey mentioned that the answer of Stanford was inadequate, and that the question to be settled by the court was whether Congress itself had any right to examine into the affairs of the company. He argued that the act of Congress creating the commission called for the entire expose of the company's doings in order that it might be ascertained if any of the earnings of the company had been used wrongfully.

The counsel for the railroad said the ground upon which the company stood was that the inquiry of the railway commission is uncalled for, unjust and unprincipled. It is an inquisition into the private affairs of a private corporation, and the court could not use any measures to compel the president of the road to answer.

By order of the Pacific Railway Commission Governor Pattison, the chairman, yesterday sent the following dispatch to President Cleveland:

"Two suits are pending in the United States Circuit Court of this district involving the right of this commission to examine witnesses concerning the payment of money to influence legislation. As we are under your immediate direction, we respectfully request your judgment as to whether or not we should employ counsel to assist the district attorney. Our judgment is that we should."

NEBRASKA PROHIBITIONISTS.

Judge Abbott Nominated for Supreme Judge—The Platform.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 18.—The Prohibitionist State convention yesterday nominated the following ticket: Judge C. F. Abbott, of Saline County, for Supreme Judge; Horatio S. Hilton, of Merrick, and J. D. Newell, of Richardson, for Regents of the State University. The platform declares constitutional and statutory prohibition the most vital issue before the American people; denounces the policy of the general Government in issuing permits to liquor-sellers; denounces the law permitting foreigners to vote before being naturalized; favors granting pensions to all disabled Union soldiers and sailors; demands equal rights for all citizens; indicts the Republicans for defeating the submission of a prohibiting amendment to the Legislature; arraigns the Democratic party for disloyalty in denying the right of the people to say whether or not the liquor traffic shall be outlawed, and invites the working-men of Nebraska to join the Prohibition army in its crusade against the enemies of honest labor.

Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me by my druggist as a preventive to hay fever. Have been using it as directed since the 9th of August and have found it a specific for that much dreaded and loathsome disease. For ten years or more I have been a great sufferer each year, from August 9th till frost, and have tried many alleged remedies for its cure, but Ely's Cream Balm is the only preventive I have ever found. Hay fever sufferers ought to know of its efficacy.

BABY HUMORS

And All Skin and Scalp Diseases Speedily Cured by Cuticura.

Our little son will be four years of age on the 25th inst. In May, 1885 he was attacked with a very painful breaking out of the skin. We called in a physician who treated him for about four weeks. The child received little or no good from the treatment, as the breaking out supposed by the physician to be hives in an aggravated form, became larger in blotches, and more and more distressing. We were frequently obliged to get up in the night and rub him with soda and water, strong liniments, etc. Finally, we called other physicians, until no less than six had attempted to cure him, all alike failing, and the child steadily growing worse and worse, until about the 20th of last July, when we began to give him Cuticura Resolvent internally, and the Cuticura and Cuticura Soap externally, and by the last of August he was so nearly well that we gave only one dose of the Resolvent about every second day for about ten days longer, and he has never been troubled since with the horrible malady. In all we used less than one-half of a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, a little less than one box of Cuticura and only one cake of Cuticura Soap.

Scrofulous Humors.

Last spring I was very sick, being covered with some kind of scrofula. The doctors could not help me. I was advised to try the Cuticura Resolvent. I did so and in a day I grew better and better, until I am as well as ever. I thank you for it very much, and would like to have it told to the public.

A Word About Catarrh.

"It is the mucous membrane, that wonderful semi-fluid envelope surrounding the delicate tissues of the air and food passages, that Catarrh makes its stronghold. Once established, it eats into the very vitals, and renders life but a long drawn breath of misery and disease, dulling the sense of hearing, trammeling the power of speech, destroying the faculty of smell, tainting the breath, and killing the refined pleasures of taste. Insidiously, by creeping on from a simple cold in the head it assaults the membranous lining and envelopes the bones, eating through the delicate coats and causing inflammation, sloughing and death. Nothing short of total eradication will secure health to the patient, and all alleviative are simply procrastinated sufferings, leading to a fatal termination. Sanford's Radical Cure by Inhalation and by Internal administration have never failed; even when the disease had made frightful inroads on delicate constitutions, hearing, smell and taste have been recovered, and the disease thoroughly driven out."

Sanford's Radical Cure consists of one bottle of the Radical cure, one box Catarrhal Solvent, and one Improved Inhaler, neatly wrapped in one package, with full directions; price, $1.00. Potter Drug and Chemical Co., Boston.

RELIEVED IN ONE MINUTE! Aching backs, hips and sides, kidney and uterine pains weakness and inflammation, rheumatic, neuralgic, sciatica sudden sharp and nervous pains coughs colds and strains Relieved in one minute by that new, original, elegant, infallible antidote to pain and inflammation, the Cuticura Anti Pain Plaster. 25 cts.; 5 for $1; at all druggists or Potter Drug and Chemical Co., Boston.

AMOS KEETER.

There's a lively little creeter which is known as Amos Keetor, and it couldn't be much fleeter if it tried;
It is ever sweetly singing while about you swiftly winging, seeking out a place for stinging through your hide;
In gore 'tis ever wadin', lanced from grandam and from maiden, till its veins are overladen with the stuff:
And yet, though rich in diet, the small creeter ne'er is quiet, and you really can't come nigh it—which is tuff;
You think you're sure to lam it, and against the wall you jam it, but you'll sadly mutter dammit as it skips;
Oh, smart is Amos Keeter, on your very nose he'll teeter, and he says, "This is my meat'er," as he nips.

—Most of the street commissioner's work this year has been to lay aprons and cross walks. Very little grading has been called for.

—The story of the light that could only be found with a lantern is illustrat- by Janesville's lamp posts veiled as they are by the new signs.

—Judge Sloan adjourned the case of the Cotton Mills against Mary C. Smith until September. This was made nescessary by the illness of Mrs. Smith's attorney.

—Salvation Army uniforms, bass drums, cornets, tambourines, and flags were scattered around the Milwaukee & St. Paul depot this morning thicker than spiders at a picnic.

—The Children's Musical Society, under the management of Miss Benedict, will meet hereafter on Saturdays, at 2:30 o'clock p. m., at Court Street M. E Sunday school room.

—The report that two fire ladders were required to rescue a farm wagon from a rut in the Milwaukee street pavement this morning is believed to be exaggerated.

—Fifty young people were entertained yesterday afternoon and last evening at the home of Captain Edward Ruger. Lawn tennis, followed by music and other social diversions, made the time pass very quickly.

—Last evening Marshal Hogan arrested Miss Emma Herman, charged with murdering her new born babe. The unfortunate woman was taken to the county jail, and will shortly have an examination before Judge Patterson.

—Work at the reservoir is delayed by the short supply of iron and cement. The wall was finished some time ago but nothing can be done towards plastering the sides until another shipment of material is received from St. Louis.

—Miss Louisa Wells, a domestic in the family of M. DeGroat, third ward, had a little matinee with a tramp at Mr. DeGroats on Tuesday. The young lady struck the tramp on the neck with a club, and it is said the blow had sufficient force to break the collar bone. The tramp disappeared after the skirmish.

—Yesterday afternoon and evening little Lilly Barriage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Barriage, North Bluff street, celebrated her ninth birthday by inviting a large number of her young friends to her home. They were hospitably entertained and the house and playground echoed the merriment of the joyful group.

—"Yaas, I'm going to stay all day," said the rural visitor as she took off her hat and laid two dozen ears of green corn on the parlor table, "and fust of all I want you to show me that nastortium well of yours. The papers tell about it supplyin' the hull town with water, and I want to see what its like. Mebbe I'll buy one to use on the farm."

—In another column will be found some letters from Kansas, replying to a communication recently published from Mr. Cole, of Johnstown. It is gratifying to know that some sections of the country are so highly favored with good crops. If the farmers of Rock Co. could by magic, transfer their stock to the corn belt of Kansas, the effects of the drouth would not be so demoralizing.

—Mrs. W. H. McDougal pleasantly entertained a large company of young people at her home on Terrace street, first ward, last evening, the gathering being in honor of a visit by Mr. Edward A. Green and Miss Kate M. Riley, of Chicago. A bountiful supper was served at seven o'clock, after which the evening was most pleasantly spent in music, dancing, and innocent and amusing games.

—Mr. S. C. Beheuna representing the famous McGebeny family, was in the city yesterday to arrange for the opening concert which will occur at Myers Opera House either on the 9th or 14th of September. The McGibenys have been spending their vacation at Milton and will take the road this fall in better condition than ever before. They have many friends in Janesville, and will, no doubt be greeted with a full house. Full particulars of the concert will be published later.

In time of peace, prepare for war; in summer prepare for winter, by calling at Sanborn's Mammoth stove and furniture store, Nos. 18 and 20, N. Main street, and buy yourself a stove.

And stars to set—but all,
Thou hast all seasons for thine own Oh, Death."

The death of Mrs. John Vankirk, occurred at eleven o'clock this morning. There was no struggle; it was only passing from a world of sorrow to one of perfect joy. For weeks her life had been trembling in the most sensitive balance, and she seemed conscious all this time that the angel of death walked by her side, ready at any time to lead her away With that consciousness there came to her not only the brave spirit of resignation but the braver spirit of doing her duty to the last, letting only sunshine radiate from her face, only helpfulness from her hand.

It was the fitness of poetic justice that not in the chill of winter but in the full beauty of summer time death claimed her. The Angel who is even tenderer and gentler than her sister Sleep, had walked beside the sufferer until she recognized her as the blessed angel of succor and relief, and met her call almost gladly.

Mrs. Vankirk was born in Seneca county, New York, January 10, 1818. Her maiden name was Elizabeth Ann Van Nortwick. Married December 26, 1837, she came west with her husband eight years later and took up her home in this county. Her interest in charitable and religious work, which will long be remembered, led her to unite with others in founding the First Baptist church, and on the church rolls her name appears as a charter member.

Besides a husband there are left seven children—Mrs. S. J. Voorhees, of Vallejo, California; Mr. J. H. Vankirk, of New York; W. T. Vankirk; Walter B. Vankirk, of Passadena, California; Miss Mary E. Vankirk; C. N. Vankirk, and F. A. Vankirk.

The funeral services have not yet been arranged but will be announced later.

THE CASE STILL OPEN.

Galbraith Bros. May Have to Pay Duties After All.

[Special to the Gazette.]

MADISON, August 18.—United States District Attorney Bushnell decides that the Galbraith Bros. are legally bound to pay government duties on horses imported for profit and speculation only, the recent decision of the treasury department to the contrary notwithstanding. The suit for $17,000 unpaid duties is therefore being pushed.

Attorney Bushnell is governed by the department of justice and not by the secretary of the treasury.

WANT FIRE ALARMS.

The Committee in Favor of Beginning Work at Once.

Last evening the fire department committee of the common council, consisting of Alds. J. B. McLean, Chas. Horn, and John Thoroughgood, with Alds. D. P. Smith and Richard Rooney added by special resolution for the purpose of investigating certain matters connected with the fire department, held a meeting at the city clerk's office, all being present except Ald. Rooney.

The question of testing the hose in the fire fire department was considered and the test will be made in due time.

The question of purchasing a thousand feet of new hose will be reported to the council at the next meeting.

Regarding the fire alarm telegraph, the committee was unanimously in favor of adopting and purchasing some system and will so report to the council. The committee in discussing the question considered it best to take the initiatory steps of putting in the alarm this season, expending fifteen hundred or two thousand dollars in bell striker, gongs, boxes and wire, as that amount of money could be taken this year without any serious burden or detriment to other interests, and that hereafter the line and additional boxes put up at a nominal expense, the foundation having been prepared for a complete alarm at the start with the above expenditure. The committee will bring the question before the council at the next meeting.

The east side hose carriage horse was handled gently by the committee, without coming to any definite conclusion, although it was evident by the tone of the remarks that they will not sell the horse at much if any less price than was paid by the city.

THE NEW SCHOOL HOUSE.

To the Editor.

Permit me through your valuable columns, to say a word regarding the proposed new school building, contemplated in the second ward. I say "contemplated" for at present the outlook does not warrant anything more definite. If I understand the situation, the delay is occasioned by lack of harmony on the part of the board of education regarding a system of heating. I can hardly understand why this should be a perplexing question. The school board must be aware of the fact that not one of the present school buildings are properly heated in extreme cold weather, and if at all conversant with the theory of heating large buildings, they must know that it is simply impossible to force hot air against a strong north or west wind, with any degree of success. I took my children out of school repeatedly last winter, both from the Central and first ward buildings, because I would not allow them to sit in a temperature of from 40 to 50, and was assured by the janitor that this was the best that could be done after constant firing from four o'clock in the morning.

In my judgment the population of the Silent City at Oak Hill has been largely increased, by diseases whose incipient stages could be traced to cold school rooms.

I am not interested, either directly or indirectly in heaters of any description, but after an experience of twenty years with both hot air and steam, I want to make the broad assertion that the former is not to be compared to the latter, and as a patron of the schools, I want to enter my protest against squandering money on a system of heating that is inadequate and impractical. If we are to have a new school house in the second ward, let us have one that can be patronized in the coldest weather, with safety to the health of our children.

"The Woodman" enjoys an enviable reputation among the large list of Cooperative Life Insurance companies now doing business throughout the country and the success of the order is due to the efficient work of such men as Mr. Peck, men who posses the happy faculty, which so many lack, of presenting business in a business like way without becoming bores.

CROPS IN KANSAS.

Some Erroneous Statements Concerning Kansas Crops Corrected.

A Traveling Correspondent Called to Time on General Statements and Conclusions.

An Interesting Statistical Letter From John H. Rice, of Fort Scott.

Editor of Janesville Gazette:

DEAR SIR: I have read a letter in your paper of August 11th, from the pen of a Mr. Cole, on the "failure of crops in Kansas." As I am a citizen of Fort Scott in that state, and as I claim that Mr. Cole has no right to use your columns to slander Kansas, I wish to show wherein he has done so.

Mr. Cole says, "I traveled over the state considerable, going 250 miles northwest of Atcheson, and visited Topeka,' etc. If that was the extent of Mr. Cole's travels in Kansas, he simply knows nothing about Kansas. When be traveled 250 miles northwest from Atcheson, he was on the extreme north line of the state over 300 miles from Fort Scott, and 150 miles east of the western line of the state. Mr. Cole then says: "Kansas will have no crop this year"—"The corn crop which promised so fair is a failure." These two statements made by Mr. Cole are false, either from ignorance (which I presume is the fact) or willfully so. It is true that in a few sections dry weather and hot winds in July damaged the corn crop—especially is this true in sections west of Atchison. But Mr. Cole, as he describes his travels did not see one-tenth of the state. Kansas will crib 2,000,000,000 (two thousand millions) bushels of corn this year, which is about 13,333 bushels per head to every man, women and child in the state. Each individual will have more corn than Mr. Cole has raised in Wisconsin in thirteen years. One thing sure we will not starve. If Mr. Cole will visit Fort Scott, we will show him thousands of acres of corn, (damaged as it is) that will go forty bushels to the acre. Mr. Cole says, "there is no grain in Kansas, meaning," no wheat and other small grain. This is not true. We have now in our bins, from this year's crop of wheat 16,000,000 bushels—or nearly eleven bushels to each inhabitant. We will have plenty of biscuit. [The entire crop of a whole township in Elk county, yielded 35 bushels to the acre. We have raised also this year, a large amount of flax, castor beans, oats and potatoes. In a word, there is no people in any state of this union, in better condition financially, more moral and temperate with more to eat and wear, than the people of Kansas. Mr. Cole says that Kansas has one good crop called mortgages. Well, we have some mortgages and I am happy to say no mortgages ever had as good security. Kansas people pay their interest and pay their principal because they have something to pay with. A Kansas man differs from Mr. Cole and his Wisconsin neighbors in this: A Wisconsin man gets a dolla in his pocket and he clinches onto it like death to his victim, because they are hard to get. [Mr. Rice here falls into some general errors of making statements of which he accuses Mr. Cole, and is making statements concerning a people of whom he is unacquainted. Some of the best farmers of Kansas owe their success to their early education and training in Rock county.—EDITORS.] But a Kansas man, if he spends his last dollar in his pocket to-day, don't worry because he knows just where he will or can, if he wishes, replace it to-morrow. The two per cent a month is all bosh unless the borrower unnecessarily throws himself into the hands of the country banker or sharper. The man that has security to give, can borrow all he wants in Kansas for seven and eight per cent. net. Mr. Cole asks, "does the world grow worse?" Well, yes, in some respects it does—especially in Mr. Cole's neighborhood. The tendancy to slander and to detract from others must be on the increase.

I ask you, as an honorable journalist, to give this a place in your columns.

Very respectfully,

JOHN H. RICE

To the Editor.

WICHITA, Kansas, August 16, 1887.

While glancing over your valuable weekly of August 11th, I was very much surprised, and considerably amused, in reading Nelson Cole's article regarding the drouth and failure of crops in this state. In my opinion, a man who has traveled over the limited territory, as he admits, of any state, is hardly qualified to make such sweeping statements regarding the crops of the entire state. Admitting that a certain scope of country "northwest of Atchison" bears indication of drouth. does that prove conclusively that the balance of the state is in the same condition? I refer him and your numerous readers to the published report of our State Board of Agriculture as to the crops of Kansas this year. That report is official and is compiled by the most correct and authentic authorities. As to his statement that "Kansas will have no crops this year" that "there is no corn," and that "the grain crop which promised so fair is a failure," I will say that the Arkansas Valley alone will raise wheat and corn enough this year to supply not only the state but the entire Northwest, and further that if the crop of this year should prove a failure, there is enough of last year's crop on hand to last for at least two years. I would suggest to Mr. Cole the next time he attempts to write up the crop prospects of a state that he ought to do considerable more traveling in its limits, and not to make such sweeping statements upon so slight an investigation. As a companion piece to Mr Cole's article, please publish the attached clipping. Both pieces are on a par as regards common sense.

RED MEN, ETC.

Winfield Telegram: J. E. Riley hands us the a copy of a paper published in his native city in "Hold Hengland," from which we copy the following piece of startling news: "Between the murderous red men and the barbarous prohibitionist, the reservation of Kansas west of the United States in America, is likely to be depopulated. For years the Indians have been making it exceedingly sultry for the whites who were allowed to settle there, and now to add to the horror of the situation the prohibitionists, a large tribe of aborigines, have commenced a war of extermination. The mode of warfare of this tribe is to capture the enemy and torture him in the most horrible manner. They will shut him up and keep him shut up until he dies of thirst. The prohibitionists are a peculiarly constructed people by nature, as they never drink anything and never get thirsty. Knowing that thirst is the worst torture that their enemies could be subjected to they hold war dances whenever an enemy is captured. General Vilas has ordered three men of war to move to the coast of Wichita, where the entire reservation can be bombarded."

—Mr. Osborne and the Porter brothers of Turtle, have taken teams and tools to Minnesota where they intend to cut 400 acres of grass they have there purchased.

—It is quite noticable that hickory, blackwalnut and butternut trees, and hazel bushes are heavy laden with fruit, while grape vines never hung so full of clusters.

—Rie Latta has gone to Dakota with a car load of young stock. The Great American desert is called upon to help productive Wisconsin, in this her time of need.

—About four inches of water fell on the night of the 10th inst., and another inch the Saturday night following. Pastures and meadows already begin to look green and millet and buckwheat are coming up.

—Mr. Jake Brandt, while driving down the Carver hills, in Bradford, seated on top of a load of household goods, fell forward between the horses causing a runaway and breaking Mr. Brand's right shoulder and several ribs. As he is quite an aged man his recovery is doubtful.

—Dr. George Covert, who has for many years been demonstrating that oft quoted scripture that, "it is not good for men to be alone" has at last been admonished thereby and taken to himself a companion in the person of Miss Jennie Muzzy. Dr. Covert has been long and widely known as one of the most successful physicians in southern Wisconsin, and as president of the Wisconsin State Eclectic Association has a national reputation. Miss Muzzy was born and reared in Clinton, is a graduate with high honors from the State University, has more than a local reputation as a clear thinker, ready writer, fluent speaker and most excellent teacher. A host of friends will join in wishing them much happiness in their new relations.

GLADSTONE'S BELIEF.

The People of England Intend to Do Full Justice to Ireland.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Gladstone has written a letter to Mr. Brunner, the successful candidate for Parliament in the Northwich elections, in which the ex-Premier says

"Few will seek to disguise the unquestionable addition thus made to the evidence, now rapidly approaching a demonstrative character, that the people of England intend to do full justice to the people of Ireland by confiding to them in a spirit alike generous and wise the conduct of Irish affairs. It is to be lamented that years of the precious legislative life of the country should have been spent in a controversy which can only end in one way. But while it is important that the nation's judgment be speedy it is more important that when it does come it shall be unequivocal and decisive."

Gladstone writes to the editor of the Baptist:

"I have done my best to reunite the Liberals, and, except inside the House of Commons, I am quite satisfied with the results."

The Indiana Woman's Relief Corps.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 18.—The Indianapolis faction of the Woman's Relief Corps of the State is holding a convention here for the purpose of deciding whether or not to seek recognition from the National Association, which will soon meet in St. Louis. General Carnahan and others yesterday strongly advised the convention to cut loose from the National Association, which they asserted is of no benefit to the State organization and is entirely useless. It is probable that the convention will reach such a conclusion.

Death of a Pioneer.

RACINE, Wis., Aug. 18.—Dr. Warren Wadsworth, one of the pioneers of this State and an early settler in this city, died Tuesday night at his residence here of apoplexy, aged eighty-four. He settled in Racine in 1842, and had resided here continuously since that time. His life was an eventful one, and in his time he held many positions of responsibility. In the early history of this State he was prominently identified with the political movements of the day.

J. G. Carr and son of Milton Junction, made us a pleasant call last week. Mr. Carr was looking for stock to put in his pastures green, Providence having favored him this season better than us poor dried up farmers down here.

—The favorable weather during the past week has made a wonderful change in the pastures. One would suppose a week ago that there was no life in the grass. This gives new courage to the stock growers and probably they will not give away any more stock at present.

Voices of West Point Cadets.

There is a Babel of voices, an odd intermingling of dialects; for every section of our broad Union is there represented, and no cliques are encouraged. South Carolina hobnobs with her old enemy, Massachusetts; creole blood from Louisiana is warmed by coffee from the same urn that starts the sluggish veins of the Pennsylvania Dutchman; soft voiced sons of Georgia and Kentucky elide their "r's" and swap merry badinage with a fellow whose backwood whang proclaims the "Pike" from Missouri; a swarthy Californian rips out some half Spanish, half savage expletive in excited controversy with his New England vis-a-vis, whose wildest flight in the possibilities of blasphemy is "Gosh all hemlock!" and a youth whose clear blue eyes and the blondest hair and skin imaginable proclaim him a Norseman who hails from a Scandinavian district in Minnesota happens along at the instant, with the red sash of the "officer of the day" over his shoulder, and the gentleman from the Golden Gate puts a bridle on his tongue forthwith.

The word of honor of the cadet is the ne plus ultra of West Point ethics; there is no going behind or beyond it. It is the first lesson taught the youngster on joining. It is preached in wordless sermons every day and hour of his four years' course. It is the last thing of his education he is apt to forget. Like other boys, he has his fun, his faults, his vices and his "scrapes." He may violate every one of the few hundred regulations that have been evolved from year to year; he may "cut" church, "run it" to the Falls or other unhallowed resort; he may even make a predatory incursion upon the orchards or vineyards below the Point; but even to save himself or his best friend from punishment he draws the line at one thing—he won't lie. When a cadet says he has or has not done this or that, you can indorse the statement.—Chas. King. U. S. A., in Harper's Magazine.

Royalty on a Lark.

I do not think there was a funnier sight than that where the Princess of Wales came forward with the sweep of a schoolgirl and climbed into the Deadwood coach without any assistance. Then the king of Saxony and the king of Greece climbed in after her. The crown prince of Sweden was on the box and Prince George of Wales, a dashing young naval officer, was upon the back part of the coach. Prince Albert Victor of Wales, the heir apparent to the English throne after the Prince of Wales, sat inside the coach and puffed cigarettes alternately in his mother's face and in that of the king of Denmark. Indeed, smokers who have been restricted for their lack of manners in enjoying the weed in the presence of ladies would have plenty of examples to justify their course among the royal members of this group. All of the men smoked their cigars or cigarettes. The smoke was puffed straight into the faces of the ladies of the group without apology from the smokers or protest upon their part. With the exception of the Prince and Princess of Wales, who are always graceful and easy, I think that this group of royal personages made up the most stiff and awkward appearing group of people that I have ever seen in public together.—London Letter.

Building Up a Business.

Two years ago a good natured looking cripple of some 30 years of age made his appearance at a certain Sixth avenue corner with a new wooden bucket filled with lemonade. He sold out several times over during the day. Thenceforward he was a regular feature of the corner. His bucket became two; then they were metamorphosed into a single big tin pail, and in time the pail became a pair. The cripple, who had carried the first pail to his post, now had to hire a boy to wheel his stock in a barrow. He was very popular with the fair sex, who pitied his misfortune and enjoyed his civility, which was so excessive as to be quite grotesque.

The following summer he appeared again and did better than ever. Last week I found him running a handsome ice cream and summer drinks' shop on the west side and doing a roaring trade. In two years, by industry, sobriety and economy the man so helpless as to be barely able to handle the money his customers pay him had made a business for himself. He had been crippled by accident and had no friends or money.—Alfred Trumble in New York News.
